THE FIRST LUNCH ON THE FIRST DAY OF SCHOOL last Wednesday was a somewhat questionable experience (as most new experiences are) for Kayce Gilbert. But as soon as she joined her classmates around the lunch table everything was fine for the Ethel Bisbee School 2nd-grader. Superintendent of Schools Dewaine Craig reported a very quiet beginning for the school year, with no major problems.

McKernan aide downplays tax reform bill; sees revenue shortfall

Savin Millett, the governor's director of legislative operations, terms the Legislature's recently enacted property tax reform bill "stop gap relief" and not true reform. The bill—considered by legislative leaders the most important piece of legislation in this year's session—provides for direct state payments to families who pay more than 4.5 percent of their income on property taxes. This "circuit breaker program" runs for two years and provides "relief" only to those who apply for it.

Mr. Millett, who is himself a former legislator, as well as a former commissioner of education, made his remarks at the Bethel Rotary Club's weekly breakfast meeting last week at The Bethel Inn.

Bethel Town Manager Rodney Lynch told the governor's aide he didn't think much of the property tax reform measure, categorizing it as "a bandaid."

Mr. Lynch said real reform would have to increase the amount of money the state gives to towns so that the towns could carry out their state-mandated responsibilities without having to over-ly tax local residents.

Mr. Millett, a Waterville native, who also has experience as a selectman, did not disagree. "There is an awareness [in state government] that municipalities are shouldering more of the burdens of [state] programs," he said.

On the other hand, he pointed out, state government has increased the amount of money provided municipalities so that in the current biennium it accounts for about half the $3 billion budget.

Nevertheless, Mr. Millett admitted that true property tax reform would have to deal with fundamental issues rather than simply making direct payments to taxpayers.

The basic questions that had to be debated and decided are the following, he said:

- * Who pays for services;
- * Who collects what taxes; and

W'stock tax bills out this week; tax rate down

Property tax time is coming. But for most residents of Woodstock, this year's tax bite will at least be a little bit less than last year's.

The town's tax rate for 1989 has dropped nearly 25 percent from the 1988 rate—from $20 per $1,000 of assessed valuation to only $15.60 per thousand.

The assessed valuation of all buildings in town was increased 20 percent during the year, to keep pace with the real estate market, but Town Manager Vern Maxfield reports that even with the increased valuations most people will see a drop in their tax bills.

Mr. Maxfield attributes the drop to the fact that the town raised less money at this year's town meeting than it did last year.

It also allocated $65,000 from the highway block grant for paving Rumford Avenue, and took $50,000 from surplus.

The balance remaining in the surplus account will still total more than $200,000 by year-end, the town manager predicted.

He said also that the new town garage will not result in increased taxes, since the money to pay for it has already been set aside.

Mr. Maxfield said he expects tax bills to be mailed out this week.

West Paris hopes to send its solid waste to landfill in Norway/South Paris

West Paris officials hope to soon begin sending their solid waste to the Norway/South Paris Regional Solid Waste facility. For the moment they are still shipping it to the trouble-plagued Consolidated Waste Service landfill, in Norridgewock.

The state Department of Environmental Protection ordered the Norridgewock landfill closed last month, following the massive trash-pile cave-in Aug. 14. But West Paris Selectman Phil Hyam reports that because the town generates a

GOING TO COLLEGE—Students are now able to take college-credit courses right in Bethel, thanks to the interactive television (ITV) hook-up between the University of Maine system and Telstar Regional High School. The system went into use yesterday (Tuesday) for the first time. Attending the first day of class, and listening to a lecture on Art Appreciation and History, are Maggie Ring, Theresa Koskela, Nancy Howe, Shirley Hodsdon and Karen Paul. The system had a few glitches on its first day—such as the picture and sound disappearing—but the prospects seem bright.

College courses start via TV in U. Maine/Telstar hook-up; 60 students already enrolled

A 10-year goal of Adult and Community Education in SAD #44 was finally achieved yesterday morning (Tuesday) with the first class participation at Telstar High School over the University of Maine's Community College of Maine or Interactive Television System. Telstar is one of 30 sites statewide participating in the ITV hook-up, which allows adults to take undergraduate and graduate courses for credit.

The first class on Tuesday was Art Appreciation and History I, with Brooks Stoddard, originating from the University of Maine at Augusta campus. Local students enrolled in the course at the Telstar site are Theresa Koskela, Karen Paul, Margaret Ring and Beckie Bailey. Five classes with local students participating followed throughout the day.

The ITV classroom at Telstar used by adults during the hours of dayschool operation is the Media Center in the Telstar library with larger classes to meet in the lecture hall.

Students watch the class on a television monitor and are able to communicate with the professor and other students via cordless telephone. Each class session is taped so that students enrolled in the

Citizen announces dates of winter tabloid

Citizen publisher Bernard Wideman this week announced that the paper's winter recreation tabloid would be published the second week of November—in time for 5,000 copies to be sent down to the Boston Ski Show, which opens Nov. 16.

The paper will print 40,000 of the colorful tabloids this year, up from 35,000 last year. Nevertheless, the publisher stressed, advertising prices will remain the same as they were for the most recent tabloid (last spring).

The Citizen's tabloids are the most-used advertising medium for tourism-related businesses in the Bethel area, the publisher noted. They also contain more stories, photos and information on local recreation than any other medium.

Distribution will begin at the Boston Ski Show and will continue in ski shops and YMCA's from Boston to Portland. As is normally done, The Citizen will keep these outlets, as well as the state information center at Kittery, supplied with tabloids throughout the winter tourism season.

In addition, up to 20,000 copies of the tabloid will be home-delivered, as newspaper inserts, in the Providence, R.I., area. This was done for the first time with last spring's summer tabloid and proved very effective, according to advertisers in the publication.

Anyone interested in advertising in the upcoming tabloid should contact The Citizen office as soon as possible. Also, anyone (or any group) with items for the calendar in the tabloid should get their calendar listings to the Chamber of Commerce office as soon as possible. The Chamber will, as usual, compile the calendar.

Additional details on the upcoming tabloid were mailed to advertisers this week. If you did not receive such a letter and would like these details, call The Citizen office, at 824-2444.

Higher education in the hills

Educational opportunities in the Bethel area took a giant step forward this week with the start of interactive television courses at Telstar.

A cooperative effort between the University of Maine system and local Adult and Community Education, the local ITV courses will allow those working on undergraduate or graduate degrees to get many of their credits right here in town. No longer will they have to journey to UMF in Farmington or even to the UMF off-campus center in Mexico.

And for those who simply want the stimulation of college-level courses—even without the credits—the ITV set-up will be a welcome addition to the local cultural scene.

Unlike earlier TV courses, the interactive system allows an electronic give-and-take between instructors and students so that the students are not just staring at the screen and jotting down notes. If they have questions or comments, they are free to speak up.

Adult Ed Director Cathy Newell says there are already 60 students signed up for the 25 courses being offered this semester. That is a very encouraging sign for the success of the program. Mrs. Newell and the others responsible for getting the program in place at Telstar are to be congratulated for a job well done.

Letters to the editor

To the Editor:

At the last SAD #44 School Board Meeting, a letter (signed by over 60 people) was read concerning using a child's physical education grade for determining class rank and honor roll. Physical education is not an academic course. I do not believe that it should be used to determine academic standing.

How does a gym teacher decide what grade to give a student? If you have two children that are trying to make a basket with a basketball, who would get a better grade, the child who always makes a basket or the one who tries his best but never quite makes it? Is the grade based on ability or effort? Should both children get the same grade? Should a child's physical ability be graded?

Currently, a child's P.E. grade has the same effect on ranking as English, History or Math. I feel that physical education should be a pass/fail course, as it now is in the elementary schools. An ad hoc committee was formed by the school board to look into this matter. It will meet on Tuesday, Sept. 12, at 7 p.m., in the Telstar library.

FROM THE

Bethel Town Office

In this week's column I would like to take this opportunity to clear up any misunderstanding that may have resulted from a statement I made concerning the location of the airport runway, name the persons who have recently been appointed as regular or reserve police officers for the Town, list the new Planning Board members and congratulate our Little Leaguers for an outstanding baseball season.

As I stated in the beginning of this column, I would like to take this opportunity to clear up any misunderstanding that may have resulted from an incorrect statement I made concerning the location of the runway in relationship to the Airport Master Plan.

During a conversation with one of the property owners with whom we are trying to acquire an avigation easement for the airport, I made a statement that the new runway was constructed 40 feet off from where it should have been constructed. As a result, it may have been implied that the Town had made a mistake and had not constructed the runway in the correct location as shown on the approved Master Plan, and as a result we were acquiring land and avigation easements that we otherwise should not be acquiring. Further research on my part showed that my statement was incorrect and the runway is in the correct location and position as shown on the Master Plan. In addition, we are only acquiring the land and easements we need to acquire and no other ones. The confusion on my part related to the location of the survey baseline.

In retrospect, if I had made the effort to better clarify the location of the survey baseline as it relates to the centerline of the existing runway, I would not have made this incorrect statement and the resulting misunderstanding on the part of some of the affected property owners would not have occurred.

Hopefully, this explanation and my admission of culpability will put this issue to rest.

Recently the Town hired a third full-time officer and two reserve police officers. Darren Frip, of Bryant Pond, has been hired as the Town's third full-time officer. Darren is a graduate of the U.S. Army Military Police School and spent nearly five years in the Army as a Military Policeman. He was honorably discharged in March 1988. Darren will be attending the two-week Reserve Officer training course at the Maine Criminal Justice Academy commencing Sept. 11. Afterwards he will be on a schedule of regular police patrols. He will be attending the 12-week MCIA course, which is mandatory for all full-time officers, at a later date. In addition, the Town has appointed April Crowley, of Dixfield, and Andrew Bean, of Rumford, as reserve police officers. April is a former security guard. She is the second female to be appointed as a police officer for the Town. Andrew works for the Sunday River Skiway. Both reserve officers will also be attending the two-week Reserve Officer training course at the MCIA commencing Sept. 11. Phil Taylor has also been appointed as a reserve officer. Phil is currently a deputy sheriff and a

Before the first regular session adjourned July 1, the legislature enacted landmark legislation designed to make basic health care more affordable and accessible to Maine citizens. In this column, I will describe the health care crisis that spurred the legislature into action, as well as the specific components of this innovative new law.

There are 130,000 people in Maine living without basic health care insurance. Sixty one percent of these people are working men and women. Most of them are struggling to make ends meet. Their budgets are straining to meet the rising cost of housing, groceries, property taxes, transportation and other everyday expenses. For many of these people there is just too much month left at the end of the money.

When forced to set priorities, these families rightfully choose a roof over their head and food on the table. Health insurance for the family will come another day. But unfortunately, before a new day dawns, young Johnny comes down with a sore throat. Without health insurance his parents cannot afford to take him to a family doctor, so the sore throat persists. After a week or so the sore throat becomes strep throat and Johnny's parents have little choice but to take him to the nearest hospital emergency room. Johnny receives emergency room care at emergency room prices and his parents are dealt an enormous bill—which they cannot begin to pay.

Part of Johnny's unpaid bill will be swallowed by the hospital and part will be passed from the hospital to the insurer. The hospital will recover its losses by increasing daily rates, and the insurer will respond by boosting premiums. As premiums increase, employers find it more difficult—if not impossible—to provide their employees with insurance. As a result, a greater number of Maine people are forced out of the insurance market. And one day, they too, will be caught uninsured or underinsured—starting the vicious health care cycle all over again.

The newly created Maine Health Care Program is designed to help break this vicious cycle by providing basic health care insurance to individuals and families, like Johnny's, who simply cannot afford preventive medical care. Our legislation is already catching the eyes of other state legislatures throughout the nation.

Scheduled to begin in July of 1990, the Maine Health Care program will provide basic health care coverage for up to 21,000 low income people who cannot afford insurance and do not qualify for Medicaid. Specifically, the program will provide medical-like benefits to children (under age 18) whose household income does not exceed 125 percent of the federal poverty level, and to adults with household income up to 95 percent of the federal poverty level (100 percent beginning in July of 1992). The Department of Human Services will administer the program and is required to adjust eligibility or available services according to the amount of funding appropriated by the Legislature each year. For every $1 allocated to the Maine Health Care program, 50 cents will be set aside to reimburse hospitals for unpaid bills and governmental shortfalls.

The legislation also creates the Community Health Program, which will provide grants to health care providers who make health care more accessible, promote preventive care, and cut down on unnecessary medical expenses.

The new law also provides hospitals with more flexibility to invest in needed services for the local community, and creates a more competitive atmosphere designed to lower hospital charges. Finally, a new preferred provider program will encourage insurance companies to seek lower cost health care providers as a means to reduce insurance premiums.

If you would like more information about this important health care measure, write to: Sen. Don Twitchell, 1 Pikes Ave., Norway 04268. Enjoy the rest of your summer.

Planning Board agenda posted for next meeting

The Bethel Planning Board will meet next Wednesday, at 7 p.m., in the town office.

Under consideration will be a sketch plan presentation by Norman Putnam, who desires to put an apartment into his house, next to the Gulf station, on Main Street.

The board will also discuss a request by Steve Keane to subdivide a 6-acre parcel on Vernon Street.

Dan and Nancy Grover will be back before the board with a site plan for a small factory on a site in West Bethel, and Ginger and Gene Kelly will return for a follow-up discussion on their site plan for a new office in their Maine Street Place building, on Main Street.

Ed Kennett will present a plan for a bed and breakfast at the Kennett home, on the Sunday River Road.

How to strengthen the relationship between the State and the towns, as opposed to the relationship between the State and the taxpayers.

Mr. Millett was pessimistic about the ability of the State to continue funding existing programs, let alone offer towns additional money in the future. He pointed out that the Legislature spent $3.25 billion so far for the 1989-91 biennium—an increase of almost 30 percent over the last biennium's budget.

"We've spent a lot of money, and that troubles me greatly," he told the Rotarians.

What particularly troubled him was the fact that state revenues were not living up to expectations. He revealed that sales taxes, which had been increasing at 12 percent a year in recent years, has slowed to a growth rate of 7 percent annually. There are some predictions that it could drop further, to 5 percent growth per year. Should this happen, the recently passed expenditure side of the budget would far exceed the revenue side. And, he pointed out, legislators would be very loath to increase the rate of taxation in the next session with elections coming up next fall.

Aside from the expected budgetary crunch next year, Mr. Millett said he expects the abortion issue to be a hot issue in next year's elections. "Probably the main issue in the 1990 campaign," he said.

He said he expects the anti-abortion forces to place an initiative on next year's ballot to toughen the watered-down parental consent bill passed by the Legislature this year.

Looking towards this year's referendum election, he expects the $50 million prison construction bond issue to get a good reception from the voters, although it faced partisan wrangling in the Legislature just to get it on the ballot. "We're trying to be tough on crime," Mr. Millett said, "but we have no place to put prisoners."

Another bond issue on the ballot—$50 million for affordable housing—he thought would have a rougher time of it. "It's a tall bill by the way," he admitted. "Nevertheless, it is a major commitment if the voters approve it. We have more people than we thought who are close to being homeless."

Looking at the pluses and minuses of the past legislative session, Mr. Millett singled out health care, income tax reform and solid waste legislation as some of the bright spots.

Selectmen discuss cost overruns on sewer bids

At the top of the agenda for the Bethel Board of Selectmen's meeting last night (Tuesday—Monday having been a holiday) was the matter of the lack of funds to carry out the sewer plant upgrade work. The construction bids came in at about double what the town manager and the board had expected, thus no contractor was selected. (See last week's Citizen.)

Town Manager Rodney Lynch hopes to have the selectmen convene a special town meeting later this month to see if voters will agree to borrow more money to fund the work. The town already has bonded $400,000, with between $300,000 and $400,000 of that earmarked for actual construction work. However, the construction bids ran from $800,000-plus to $800,000-plus.

The meeting is too late for inclusion in this week's paper. Results will be reported next week.

The selectmen will meet again next Monday night to discuss recycling and the future of solid waste disposal in Bethel. Also on next week's agenda is a discussion on whether to lease land at the airport to private individuals for the construction of privately owned hangars.

Interviews being set up for fuel bill assistance

Community Concepts will be taking appointments for the Home Energy Fuel Assistance Program throughout the month of September for application interviews scheduled later in the fall.

The "earlybird" scheduling, says Community Concepts' Special Program Director Lynda Haegele, is designed to assist those who would like to sign up for the 1990 federal fuel assistance program as the new heating season approaches.

Once the system is up and running, students will be asked to help with taping chores, however the University provided a modest grant to allow the hiring of Lin Chapman to provide some supervision and equipment maintenance. In addition, Telstar has been approved as a work-study site for University of Maine at Farmington students on financial aid, which may allow for another part-time aide.

The installation of the ITV system at Telstar has been a story in itself. A transmitting tower has been under construction atop Mt. Abram in recent weeks, starting much behind schedule. Some political prodding by State Representative Jeff Mills, and many calls from the Telstar and University of Maine at Farmington staff, got the wheels in motion. A helicopter delivered materials to the mountain on Aug. 15.

The Telstar site staff attended last-minute training at the Rumford-Mexico ITV site during last week, anticipating final hook-up with Mt. Abram, which occurred last Thursday night, just in time for testing prior to the start of classes.

Mrs. Newell pointed out one positive note: Contel was not on strike and Telstar has been one of the few ITV sites to have all phone lines installed on time.

Mrs. Newell plans an open house for ITV on Oct. 10 to allow those who have followed the development of the University of Maine's project and who supported the local effort to see the results of their efforts. A University convocation will be held over the system as part of the open-house.

Savin Millett

To provide a safety net for those without health insurance or Medicaid, the state has set aside $20 million to fund health care during the biennium. He admitted more needs to be done in the field of health care cost containment because employers are having to pay between $3,000 and $4,000 annually per employee in order to provide health insurance. The $20 million allocated by the state for those without insurance or Medicaid will also be forced to grow, he predicted.

As for income tax reform, he noted that the changes in the federal tax law caught the state off-guard and thus hit middle-income families with two wage earners and many deductions particularly hard when it came to paying state taxes. The anomalies have finally been corrected, he announced, and "These middle-income families" should be able to pay (their state taxes) with ease and comfort and a lot less animosity [next spring].

Mr. Millett was particularly pleased with the passage of the administration's solid waste package, which provides for a 50 percent reduction of the solid waste stream by 1994, plus state landfills, incentives for recycling and expansion of the bottle bill.

As for the emotion-laden river cleanup bill passed by the Democratic-controlled Legislature and vetoed by the Governor, Mr. Millett said the bill was too hasty and predicted a more carefully thought out bill would be presented by the administration next spring. He said the cost of cleaning up the state's major rivers—including the Androscoggin—"would probably be paid for by the paper companies" (which caused the bulk of the color, odor and foam in the rivers). He was confident the administration could get the paper companies to agree to footing the bill for the cleanup. "I'm sure they will," he said.

Mr. Millett also acknowledged some of the defeats he suffered in pushing the Governor's proposed programs. The proposed longer school year was one example. The administration wanted a 180-day school year, but the Legislature voted for a 175-day year, with the increase to be at the rate of one extra day per year for five years.

The teaching establishment opposed to the idea, the proposal was soundly defeated. "We misjudged the issue of quality and didn't do enough on quantity," the dedicated educator admitted. He also said the Legislature was not brought in to the formulation of the proposal early enough. He predicted the issue would be presented to the Legislature again.

On the matter of higher education, he thought the administration did much better. A new bill will make it easier for needy high school graduates to go to college, by providing more state funds and a simplified administrative system for getting the loans. Mr. Millett termed it "one-stop shopping" for student aid. He said, "We're trying to get Maine students to have higher expectations. No student who wants to be denied [the opportunity of higher education]."

College courses

classes have an opportunity to make up missed classes or to review for exams. Books are ordered from university bookstores via credit card and exams and assignments travel back and forth via FAX machine or UPS.

The fall semester enrollment at the Telstar site has topped 80, with students enrolled in approximately 20 different classes. According to Adult and Community Education Director and ITV site coordinator Cathy Newell, this exceeded expectations and should provide an excellent "test" of this new education delivery system—part of the whole new field of distance education. "We have worked for years to attract college-level courses to this area with little success—the ITV system brings us not just one course offering per semester, but over 20, allowing us to schedule a course if just one local student is interested."

Once the system is up and running, students will be asked to help with taping chores, however the University provided a modest grant to allow the hiring of Lin Chapman to provide some supervision and equipment maintenance. In addition, Telstar has been approved as a work-study site for University of Maine at Farmington students on financial aid, which may allow for another part-time aide.

The Telstar site staff attended last-minute training at the Rumford-Mexico ITV site during last week, anticipating final hook-up with Mt. Abram, which occurred last Thursday night, just in time for testing prior to the start of classes.

Mrs. Newell pointed out one positive note: Contel was not on strike and Telstar has been one of the few ITV sites to have all phone lines installed on time.

Mrs. Newell plans an open house for ITV on Oct. 10 to allow those who have followed the development of the University of Maine's project and who supported the local effort to see the results of their efforts. A University convocation will be held over the system as part of the open-house.

Here are some of the courses offered in ITV

The University of Maine at Farmington Centers at Bethel will offer up to 40 interactive television courses this fall through the Community College of Maine, a unit of the University of Maine System.

The newly installed interactive television system which uses microwave transmission and fiber optic cable connects the Community College and University Centers, Maine Maritime Technical Institutes, Maine Maritime Academy and 20 high schools scattered throughout the state.

The new ITV offerings at the University of Maine at Farmington outreach centers will be supplemented by traditional live classroom instruction at the University of Farmington Rumford/Mexico Center.

The ITV courses are for college credit and can help a student prepare for a job, complete a college degree and enrich one's life.

The fall undergraduate ITV courses, broadcast statewide from the Farmington campus, are "Peace, Conflict and World Order," taught by Associate Professor Mark Bartholomew; "Parenting the Young Child," with Assistant Professor Joel King; "Introduction to Early Childhood Education," with Associate Professor Dorothy Conforti; and "Legal Responsibilities in Early Childhood Education," with Professor Elizabeth Squibb.

In addition, "Criminal Law," with University of Maine at Augusta Associate Professor William Cade will be received at University of Maine at Farmington's Learning Center.

At the graduate level, University of Maine, Farmington Professor Ross Pearson will teach the ITV course "Nature and Needs of Exceptional Learners" from C-23. And three additional graduate courses will be received in 1989: "Models of Change in Education Organizations," taught by Assistant Professor Russell Quaglia at University of Maine; "School Law," with Lecturer John Hoyt at University of Southern Maine; and "Ethical Issues in Health Care," with Associate Professor Phyllis Healy at University of Southern Maine.

For additional information, interested individuals should contact the Community College of Maine, at 400-696-6000, or contact the University of Maine at Farmington Continuing Education Office at 778-3501, extension 242, or the SAD #44 Adult Education Office, at 824-2780.

relatively small amount of waste, it is still able to ship to Norridgewock—where the waste is sorted for recycling and then shipped to landfills elsewhere.

"Mr. Hyatt said town officials hope to be able to continue shipping to Norridgewock until the Norway/South Paris facility is ready to accept West Paris' waste."

That facility is still in the process of obtaining the necessary operating permits, Mr. Hyatt said.

West Paris has not signed a formal contract with Norway/South Paris, he said, but at this point it appears to be the town's best option.

He noted that the town may be able to save some money when it does begin to ship to the nearby facility. The town currently pays a tipping fee of $65 per ton at Norridgewock, he said. But with the greater volume of trash that will be generated when other neighboring towns combine their waste at Norway/South Paris, that fee might drop by as much as $5 a ton. Hauling charges to Norway/South Paris will also be considerably less than hauling to Norridgewock.

The town generates an average of 40 tons of solid waste a month, he said.

From the Bethel Area

Chamber of Commerce

Executive Director Robin Zinchuk reports as follows:

Welcome to new members Janet and Don Coverdale. The Coverdale House Lodging, Vernon Street, Bethel. Also congratulations to new owners Eric, Karen and Nathan Wright of El Video, Bethel. They also own and operate Telstar Video on Route 2.

The Chamber is busy preparing for the Eastern States Expo, in Springfield, Mass. Volunteers going to the show from the Bethel area are: Bill and Ernestine Riley, Nancy and Randall Harrison, Steve Wight, Ginger Kelly, Sandra Gunther and Robin Zinchuk. We are still in need of a set of volunteers for Sept. 22 (Friday) through Sept. 25 (Monday a.m.). Call the Chamber office immediately if you are interested.

If you received the Chamber mailing on the United Chambers Insurance plan and are the least bit interested in obtaining further information or rates, call us at 824-2282—we'll try to help.

The Bethel Area Sled Dog Races have been cancelled for this year. The Sled Dog Club is seeking big prize money for their people, which we have been unable to solicit.

The Chamber brochure is at the printer—hope to have it by mid-September.

Have a safe and happy Labor Day weekend.

New Gould staffers introduced at reception

New Gould Academy staff members were introduced by Headmaster and Mrs. William Clough at a reception held at the Bethel Inn Aug. 31 to mark the opening of the school's 55th academic year. The reception was attended by most of the Gould faculty, the Bethel Inn management and numerous local friends.

Returning to Bethel after many experiences around the country and abroad is Gould alumnus and new Assistant Director of Admissions Peter Chandler, who comes to Gould after a year of traveling in Europe and Asia, working in various international relief projects and climbing in the Himalayas.

A 1983 graduate of Bowdoin College, he has taught history at Tatnall School in Delaware and Kent Denver School in Colorado and coached lacrosse at the University of Colorado. At Gould Mr. Chandler will be the resident advisor in Holden Hall, will coach golf and lacrosse and share his service-oriented interests with students.

Joining Peter will be Brian Walker, new Admissions Assistant and Director of Minority Recruiting. A graduate of Gould and Ohio Wesleyan University, Brian returned to Gould from a position as journalist with the Cleveland News Herald. While at Gould, he received both the Elwood Ireland and Linwood "Lindy" Lowell Awards, two of the school's highest honors. In addition to his work in the admissions office, Brian will coach soccer, basketball and lacrosse.

Winfield "Win" Brown, Gould's new associate in the alumni and development office, was also introduced. A native of Hampden, Win is a 1989 graduate of Bates College, where he was very active in development and alumni affairs, serving as the student representative to the Board of Trustees and director of BatesStar, the student-alumni relations network. Win also captained the crew team, was a Diritto scholar and a dean's list student. He is the son of Gail and Tom Brown, of Hampden.

The Gould Academy school year began this weekend with a joint Telstar High School-Gould Academy leadership workshop, run by NTL on the Gould campus for the second consecutive year. Registration of new students is Wednesday, Sept. 6, followed by orientation hikes and canoe trips. Returning students return on Sept. 9 and classes begin on Monday, Sept. 11.

Elderwood Manor Items

Louis and Judy Hall, Roxbury, daughter Gail Knox and daughter Allison Belfast, called on Aunt Florence Hall, Gloria Chamberlain, Madison, is at the farm with mother, Catherine McGuire, over the Labor Day weekend. A family cookout is planned for Sunday.

Mary Thurston called on friends at the Manor. She and Elizabeth Bennett had dinner at Addie's Lunch.

Catherine McGuire was the only bus rider to Rumford on Tuesday.

Florence Hall visited Dorothy Elliott at Rumford Hospital. She has been taken to Cozy Inn, in East Rumford.

Recent callers at Anne's were Betsy York, South Paris, Nancy Fox, Bethel, and Marjorie Swift, Dixfield.

Granddaughters Rachel, her two daughters Elsiebeth and Elissa, and Beth Larue were overnight guests of their grandmother, Flora Whitten.

Thought for the day: Nothing separates the men from the boys like the cost of automobile insurance.

Calvary Congregational Church

Our guest speaker Rev. Albert Buzzell brought a message from Luke 12 and 13: "Responding to the Light." Special music, Barbara Bailey with Philip and Melissa sang "Pick up the Broken Pieces."

Communion was observed at the end of the service. Bess Dowd turned out the light lunch at the close of the service.

Sept. 10, "Rally Day" 9:30 a.m. Fun, Bible message, refreshments, games, etc. Our theme will be about our 25th anniversary. Let's say good-bye to the summer slump, and welcome three seasons of active Sunday School classes.

Oct. 5-8, Missions conference, with Bob and Anna Atwood from Tahlequah, Okla. Looking ahead: Oct. 27-28 "25 Years of Sowing Seed." Details later.

GOSPEL SINGER TO PERFORM

"New England's Own Gospel Singer" Ken Fernald will be in the Bethel area Sept. 9 and 10 doing concerts at the following churches:

Saturday, Sept. 9, at 7 p.m. at the Bryant Pond Baptist Church;

Sunday, Sept. 10, at 9 a.m. and 10 a.m. at Pleasant Valley Bible Church;

Sunday, Sept. 10, at 6 p.m., at the Bethel Church of the Nazarene.

Ken, known for his clear presentation in music of the love of Jesus Christ, appeared with Dr. John DeBrine at Telstar High School last April.

Everyone is welcome at each and all of the services.

East Bethel

By MYRA FOSTER

There were about 50 people at the potluck supper and meeting of the Alder River Grange. The incoming lecturer, Diane Howe, presented a very good program, which everyone enjoyed.

There was a good attendance at the church last Sunday. Mellen Kimball brought certificates showing that three pews have belonged to the Kimball family since the church was first organized. The certificate was signed by Ephraim Powers, secretary of the church. I have some for the Foster family, also, as well as for some pews in the Middle Intervale church.

George Gamble, of Manchester, N.H., was a weekend guest of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hastings. Mr. and Mrs. Rick Leighton and two children, of Enfield; Mary Lee Harris, of New Hampshire, visited the Hastings one day last week. Mr. and Mrs. Eric Hastings, of Danvers, Mass., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Hastings over the weekend.

Mrs. Joanne Coolidge, of Hanover, and Ted Brett, of North Paris, visited Mr. and Mrs. Almon Coolidge last weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Moore and Mrs. Wendell Edmunds, of South Paris, visited Mr. and Mrs. Chester Harrington Aug. 26.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kimball attended the dance at Locke Mills Aug. 26. One day last week Mrs. Warren Smith and grandsons Nicholas and Danny and Mrs. Paul Kimball visited Fillebrown Orchard, in Waterford, and bought fruit there.

Mrs. Fay Kimball and Mrs. Andre Bernier were in Rumford Aug. 27. They also attended several yard sales that day.

Mrs. Richard Stearns took me to Lewiston, Aug. 27, to have Dr. Kenneth Wolf check my eyes.

STONEHAM DUW TENT HONORED

At the recent Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War's 98th National Convention held at Waterville, Hannah F. Richardson, Tent #19, of East Stoneham, brought home top honors in the National Educational Activities Competition.

In October 1988 tents (local level organizations) across the country were asked to "bring before the public, in our local communities, something very special to us as Daughters...Memorial Day," and further to "Put forth a special effort...to tell them about Memorial Day."

The members of the Stoneham Tent created displays at the Charlotte Hobbs Memorial Library and the New Suncook School, in Lovell, centered around General John A. Logan's General Order, Memorial Day, and included the American flag as well as photos, uniforms, medals and printed material about local veterans of all wars and presented a Memorial Sunday service and parade with the help of Cub Scout Pack #155, the clergy and parishioners of Oxford County United Parish and other community members.

Shortly after Memorial Day, scripts, summaries, photos and slides of all the activities were submitted to the DUW National Educational Activities Committee for consideration.

The second day of National Convention, Past National President Catherine Reading, Pa., praised the Sisters of Tent #19 for their well-organized and meaningful program and presented project coordinator Lesley Dean and the other members of Tent #19 with a first place certificate and monetary award.

The Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, Tent #19, meet monthly in East Stoneham and are always interested in talking with prospective members. Call 745-6836 or 928-2611 for more information.

Tri-Town Rescue

Tri-Town Rescue is sponsoring a spaghetti supper Saturday, Sept. 9, from 5:30 to 7 p.m., at the Trap Corner rescue barn. The spaghetti will be supplemented by an array of salads, coleslaw and homemade pies for dessert.

An open house is planned for Sunday, Sept. 17, at the rescue barn, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., for anyone interested in seeing the facilities or the new ambulance. The open house coincides with state Emergency Medical Services Week. Light refreshments will be served.

Search and rescue will meet Sept. 18 at the rescue barn to discuss SAR policies and procedures.

Extension service offers series on step-parenting

The potential rewards and challenges of step-parenting will be the focus of a five-part series of discussion group sessions beginning Tuesday, Sept. 19, 7-9 p.m., at the Extension Office, on Olson Road, in South Paris, with the following sessions on Tuesday's, Sept. 26, Oct. 3, 10 and 17. The program is sponsored by the University of Maine Cooperative Extension in Oxford County. Extension Educator Wendy Legg Pollock will lead the workshop.

Strengthening step-families is a program designed to help step-families begin building solid relationships. Although often confusing and frustrating, stepfamily living also offers tremendous potential for a rich family life.

Through discussions, readings and activities, participants will better understand the problems and opportunities unique to step-family living. They will also learn skills that will serve to strengthen their step-family.

Among the topics to be discussed: the myths of instant love, the difficulties children face in sharing a parent and acquiring a new step-parent, and step-siblings; how to recognize and overcome unrealistic expectations about new step-family relationships; dealing with a non-residential parent; the discipline dilemma; starting out—handling finances, deciding where to live; building a solid couple relationship; the question of "you" being the "unmentionables"—past relationships; step-family sexuality.

A valuable feature of the discussion is the support participants receive from each other.

The program is open to the public, free of charge. Pre-registration is required. For more information, or to pre-register, contact the Extension Office, at 743-6222.

CLASSES FOR HORSE LOVERS

Telstar Adult Education will be offering courses for equestrians this autumn. "Buying and Keeping a Horse" is an introductory course on how to select and acquire and keeping a horse of your own. Topics covered will include discussion of the time, money and physical requirements of horse ownership. Evaluating and buying a horse will be discussed as well as how to deal with veterinarians, farriers and other horse professionals. The course begins Tuesday, Sept. 19, and runs four weeks.

"Conditioning the Horse," a four-week course beginning Oct. 17, will be of interest to anyone who rides or owns horses. The principles of proper exercise, feed and stable management to get a horse fit and keep him that way will be discussed. Also, how to avoid stress-related injuries and how to identify them. The course is designed to cover all equine disciplines, from trail riding to eventing.

The instructor, India Haynes, is a British horse certified instructor and breeds and trains horses at her South Waterford farm. She teaches riding and stable management and judges throughout the region.

For more information about these courses call 842-2780.

This is your Chamber of Commerce

This column will, every-so-often, spotlight a different member of the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce. The purpose is to give some understanding about the various fields of endeavor of the Chamber members.

Recognition of the beauty of Maine's lakes, mountains and forests prompted owners Bill and Karen Boardman, John Costantino and Tom Vatalini to establish a 70 acre enterprise called "Woodstock Wilderness Experience" in the Concord Pond area of Woodstock back in 1983.

Operations began in the early years with an extensive amount of renovations to the unique three-floor, dormitory-type facility, which presently provides food and lodging for groups of up to 60 people.

The first floor consists of a combination dining room, and activities area, game room, kitchen and office. Floor two is designed for female occupancy, featuring a TV lounge, bunk-style sleeping package and a youth camp adventure package. Hiking, camping, cross country skiing, and snowmobiling are available on the premises, while golf, downhill skiing, canoeing and antique hunting are located nearby.

The Woodstock Wilderness Experience facility presents the opportunity for limitless uses by various groups. The following have already made use of the service: ski clubs, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, church groups, family reunions, environmental education classes, school groups and snowmobile clubs.

A staff of seven operates Woodstock Wilderness Experience, with Barbara Russell, a local teacher, being responsible for program activities. During any occasion when groups are occupying the facilities, a staff of four is on hand to supervise and administer to dining and lodging needs.

The Woodstock Wilderness Experience property is also available for rent by groups for weekends or weekly periods. Requests for information and/or reservations should be addressed to P.O. Box 327, Bryant Pond, 04219 or phoned to 207-364-3366 or 508-278-2641.

Field hockey squad takes the field today

The Telstar Regional High School field hockey team opens its 1989 season today (Wednesday) at home against Livermore, and co-coaches Sally Hannon and Gail Wight are expecting a strong showing from their squad.

"Our offense has played really well in the pre-season," Coach Wight said, "and the defense is starting to get as new people are getting used to their positions."

The Rebels have lost only four people from last year's squad, which went 7-8 and made it to the Western Maine Class C quarterfinals.

Among those coming back from that squad will be center halfback Jenn Gould, fullbacks Shannan Tyler and Angie Jordan, halfbacks Mary-Beth Hannon and Jenn Bailey, and forward Kristi Clement.

Eight of this year's players sharpened their skills at field hockey camp this summer.

Mary-Beth Hannon and Kristi Clement will captain this year's team.

"This is pretty much the same team as last year, so the girls have played together before," Coach Wight said. "The Mountain Valley Conference is very tough, but I think we're going to make a strong showing."

COMPUTER FAIR AT NORWAY

Computers and software programs will be on display at the first annual computer fair, to be held Sunday, Oct. 22, at the Guy E. Rowe School, in Norway.

Small business owners and individuals who have considered buying a computer, as well as experienced computer users, will find this an ideal way to get first-hand information, the organizers say.

Computer distributors, software vendors and those selling products used by computers will have ample space to display their products and will be available to answer questions one-on-one and give those attending an opportunity to try a computer or see a program work.

Used equipment will be offered and there will be free workshops and demonstrations. Arun Gupta, president of DataEase Corporation, maker of one of the fastest growing relational database programs, will be the special guest speaker.

* Several bear hunting law changes in effect in 1989. See law booklet for details.

 Unlawful to hunt rabbits with dogs during any open firearms season on deer in Hancock, Knox, Lincoln, Sagadahoc, Waldo, and Washington counties.

SUNDAY HUNTING: Legal in Maine.

SHOOTING HOURS: On animals, 1/2 hour before sunrise to 1/2 hour after sunset except during any firearms season on deer, when hunting closes at sunset for all species except raccoon. On game birds, shooting hours are 1/2 hour before sunrise to sunset.

LICENSES: Hunting license is required. Archery license authorizes hunting with bow and arrow only during any open season on that species, except as otherwise provided. A person with a regular hunting license may also hunt with bow and arrow, except during the special archery season on deer. Special license-stamp required to hunt during muzzleloader season on deer.

STAMPS: Don't forget to purchase a Maine duck stamp and a federal duck stamp and/or a Maine pheasant stamp if you intend to hunt these species.

BE A GOOD SPORTSMAN: Please keep in mind that not everyone shares our views on hunting and trapping. The actions of all hunters and trappers must be tempered by the realization that if we want to continue these traditions in the State of Maine, we must all conduct ourselves as true sportsmen: OBEY THE WILDLIFE LAWS AND RESPECT THE RIGHTS OF OTHERS. Only when we conduct ourselves properly in the field will we earn the respect and support of the general public.

OPERATION GAME THIEF: Poachers are Thieves. Rewards are paid for information on game law violations. Call 1-800-ALERT US (253-7887). Caller identification protected.

Rather a foggy morning as I sit down to type. Hope it burns off as this is the morning for Tom to return to Colorado and he needs good weather for take-off. He has been here since Aug. 10 and we have enjoyed having him home for the length of time and hate to see him go home to the western state of Colorado. Peggy is taking him to the airport to meet his plane and we hope he has a good flight home.

Did you ever hear of losing a spring, coil spring, from your car? I never had but that is what happened to my car one day recently when Tom and I went to town. We were coming back by the Paris Manufacturing plant and felt this thumping and heard a heck of a noise and looking out the rear window we saw a coil spring rolling across the street. I went back and picked it up and we continued on home as we couldn't see anything wrong. But the next day when I was going to use the car I noticed the back was slanting down very hard, and when we looked to see what the trouble was, discovered that the seat that the coil spring sat on had let go on one side and the spring was missing. That meant another trip to the garage to get it fixed.

My poor old car is rusting out and no money to get another, so it is patch upon patch for the car, just to keep it going. We were in town last Friday to do errands and get groceries as usual. Saturday night while Russell and Peggy went to the dance at Locke Mills, Tom and I spent the evening playing cribbage. I'm not very good at it as yet and without a chance to play more often probably won't get to be too good. It is a fun game anyway. We have played it several nights also. That takes four people and with Tom to sit in with us Peggy, Russell and I enjoyed playing the game. We don't get a chance to play it too often so take advantage of the chance when we get one.

Sunday was a beautiful day and Lawrence and Grace had asked Russell, Peggy, Tom and I to go for a ride with them in their motor home. That would hold all of us and we would have everything handy when we wanted to stop to eat. We left home about 8 a.m. and headed out toward Fryeburg by way of Norway, Waterford, Lovell and on. We were nearing Waterford when I felt a bump as one gets on a tire but we continued on to what used to be known as Lynchville where the sign of all the countries names stands for one to see. We stopped there for pictures to be taken and Lawrence looked at the tires and found a large bump on one, as I thought. So the tire had to be changed. Took a little while but when it was done we went ahead and journeyed through Fryeburg and on to North Conway, N.H., where we stopped for a coffee break, as Grace said. We then journeyed on and I can't remember all the towns we went through but went through Crawford, Nashua, I believe, and came out up in Littleton, N.H., then on.

West Paris Grange's next meeting will be held on Sept. 7 with a 7:30 p.m. meeting and refreshments after the meeting. All Grange members are invited to attend any time.

to Whitefield and up into Lancaster. From there we went up through and took a road that took us over by the road to the Berlin Fish Hatchery where we stopped for a little to look over the fish. Then on through Berlin and Gorham and down through Bethel and home to West Paris.

We couldn't have had a better day for the trip and we all enjoyed ourselves immensely. We stopped when we wished and ate when we wished and having one's own bathroom along is great also. We saw a lot of countryside and it was pretty and so many lovely flower gardens in bloom. They were beautiful to look at.

Had to go to the doctor in Norway on Monday for a back treatment, but that is par for the course. Tom went along and did a little shopping after I was done at the doctor's. He does like fish and he got some good fish to take home with him. He can't get it out there for the price he can here. When any of us go out to visit, we plan to take along some fish for him.

Tuesday evening was an event for me. My daughter was up and got me during the day and we went to Augusta to sit in on a macrobiotic cooking class and dinner. It was most interesting and the food was very good. Does anyone around here do that kind of cooking? If so, I would be interested in coming to classes. It is supposed to be one of the most healthful ways of eating and helps many diseases, including arthritis.

Laura Hutchins, of East Andover, was here visiting all during the day Tuesday. Wynona Woolf, Courtney, Kariann and Arnold Woolf were here for lunch on Tuesday; then I went home with her to attend the class in Augusta.

Glen Virge, of Nashua, N.H., spent the weekend with the Lovejoys.

David Small, of Kennebunkport, called on the Lovejoys Monday night as he is now a student at C.M.V.T.I. in Auburn.

West Paris Grange is going to install a ramp for the handicapped. The Parisians Band will hold a dance on Sept. 30 to help raise the money for this good cause. The dance will be at West Paris Grange Hall, so mark your calendar and come to help out.

Marcia Baxter spent part of her week's vacation with her family in Skowhegan. She spent Wednesday in Waterford helping set up the Grange exhibit at the fair.

Mary Lovejoy and children called on Noelle Zimbers and Barbara Palmeth in North Norway last week. Noelle and son Billy were here on a two-week vacation from Wisconsin.

West Paris Grange's next meeting will be held on Sept. 7 with a 7:30 p.m. meeting and refreshments after the meeting. All Grange members are invited to attend any time.

Hope everyone takes care and watches for those yellow buses that are starting to roll. Have a good week, everyone.

NOTES FROM SAD 44 Guidance

The SAD #44 Guidance Advisory Committee will begin its second year of monthly meetings on Sept. 11, 7:30 p.m., room 106, Telstar.

The committee, comprised of parents, teachers, students, counselors, school board, business and community representatives, meets the first Monday of every month. Meeting locations are rotated each month throughout the district providing an opportunity for greater community participation from each town.

SAD #44 counselors established the committee last fall in an attempt to heighten public awareness of guidance and counseling programs while gathering community input into issues of interest or concern with district K-12 programs.

Chairwoman Diane York, of Bryant Pond, is excited about the potential for this committee and looks forward to its continued growth in the coming year. She said that at their September meeting, the group would recap their efforts of the previous year and establish goals for '89-'90.

Mrs. York and SAD #44 counselors extend an open invitation to become involved with the work of this group. To be truly effective and of maximum benefit to the education of our youth, the committee needs input from a cross-section of people of differing backgrounds including students (Grade 6-college), graduates, senior citizens, parents, school personnel, drop-outs, business, church, civic and community members.

Hearing Tests Set In Norway

Hearing tests will be given FREE at the Townline Professional Building in September on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 9-3 by Belton. Sallie Chisholm, Licensed Hearing Aid Specialist will perform the test.

Those who HEAR but have trouble UNDERSTANDING conversation are urged to have this modern electronic test to find out if their loss is one of many that can be helped.

Everyone not hearing clearly should have a hearing test. Even people who wear aids, or those who believe nothing can be done for them, should be tested. Today, most hearing problems can be helped. No hearing problem should ever be ignored.

NEWS FROM

Andover Elementary School

Karen Robinson, serving her second year as principal of the Andover Elementary School, is very excited about plans for the coming year, and the recently completed improvements to the building and yard.

The exterior of the building has been painted; the rear parking lot black topped; and the back field graded and seeded a year earlier than expected, allowing a fund raising project for the playground to get underway this year.

The all-purpose room has been refurbished to accommodate art, music, and special activities; and the prior asbestos problem has been solved. New clapboards cover the rear of the building, and windows were replaced in three rooms, all in keeping with the original aesthetics of the building.

"I am especially happy with parent involvement in this school," Principal Robinson said. "I have more interested parents here than I had in the school I came from in Portland, where there were 650 children. I am very excited about all that is happening."

On Aug. 30, school district directors, Betsy White, John Taylor, and Rex Thurston held a 7 a.m. breakfast for the school staff, with homemade blueberry muffins, fresh fruit, yogurt and coffee.

This year's staff consists of teachers Kathryn Conrad, John Emery, Adrienne Gallant, Victoria Melsner, Barbara Sabin, Roger Sabin, Carol Stuart; secretary, Susan Burnham; bus driver, Sharon Hutchins; cooks, Barbara Melsner, and Beverly Swan; and bus driver/custodian Art Whitten. A new addition to the staff is library aide Toby Bromberg, of Rumford, assisted by Barbara Bailey, and an efficient reorganization of the library has resulted.

Other plans for the coming year include the students taking more responsibility for themselves, their homework, and the lunch program; improved use of the instructional day; and the formation of a student council with 4th Grade leadership. A letter outlining the various goals was sent to parents on Sept. 1.

Labor Day has come and gone so now the children are in school and it's almost time for harvest time. Almost everyone I talk to has not had many tomatoes ripen off. Also don't believe people are having very good luck with winter squash. Can't think of any children beginning school from this side (Bethel) of the road. Maybe as I don't keep up with the younger ones like I use to.

Frank and I left for Rangeley Saturday afternoon to Bobby and Eddie Pevear's. Saturday, Aug. 26, was our 35th wedding anniversary. We were married in Kansas City, Mo., and his sister Bobby stood up with us. Don't know where the other one, Bob Smith, is living now but believe he is either in Kansas or Missouri. Bobby and Eddie's anniversary was Aug. 21, so Bobby had made reservations in Eustis for the four of us. After we got through eating they brought in a small cake with flowers and "Happy Anniversary" on it. Sunday we went for lobsters and clams and had them outdoors. It was a beautiful day and they have a beautiful view of Rangeley Lakes from their camp.

George took Frankie, Theresa and Karen Kutchen to the movie, "Uncle Buck" in Auburn.

Monday evening, Ernest and Alberta Angevine came for a visit. Tuesday, Frank and Donald Brooks went to a meeting in Portland on oil tanks above ground. Wednesday, Karen and Sarah Page came to watch the kittens. Kristin and I have been doing some pickling and we have been selling some plums so have been doing something right along.

Becky, Jon and Jen Shaw went to Norway Lake, Aug. 29 to visit Richard Packard and family, of California, who are renting a camp on Norway Lake. While she was there, Elaine Packard Weston came to visit her son.

Vivian Barlow, of East Andover, came the first part of the week to visit Joyce Stearns and Joyce's grandchildren.

John and Connie Angevine hosted an Angevine-Lombard reunion Aug. 27 at their home in Colebrook, N.H. Attending from the road were Ernest and Alberta Angevine, Rick, Sue, Timmy, Kristy, Dusty and Craig Angevine, Victor, Judy Coolidge and three girls; 69 attended.

Sept. 1, Don and Karen Bean drove their son Nathan to Baltimore, Md., to begin his studies at John Hopkins.

Bob, Linda, Seth and Jon Howe recently attended the birthday party of Caleb Taylor who turned one-year-old. Caleb is the son of Will and Mary Taylor, of East Bethel.

The Howe boys, the Swan boys, of Sunday River Road, and the Douglass boys with their mothers, Linda, Marilyn and Gina, went to Gorham, N.H., park to play and had a picnic lunch.

Aug. 23 Bob, Linda, Seth and Jon went to Sandy and Barbara MacGregor's, of South Rumford, for a barbecue.

Adult Education

"Something for Everyone" is the theme of SAD #44 Adult and Community Education's fall program—with courses ranging from literacy skills to graduate university courses, with many facets of skill training and personal enrichment as well as educational advancement in between. The 60 courses and programs have been advertised in the fall flyer, which was mailed last week. To enroll, call the Adult and Community Education office, 824-2780.

Personal enrichment courses this fall include Color Photography, Charting, Sewing, Woodworking, Photo-Journalism, Rug Braiding with both afternoon and evening sessions, Intermediate Bridge, Bird-carving, Knitting, Machine Quilting featuring one class on Amish Roman Stripe and another on Morning Star, Beginning Hand Quilting, Stained Glass, Introduction to Watercolors, and Screen-printing, well as Cooking with Herbs, Do-It-Yourself Home Projects, Air Brush Painting, and "Secrets of Salmonella and other Kitchen Nasties."

Family Living Skills include STEP: Systematic Training for Effective Parenting with both morning and evening sessions, a Microwave workshop and a workshop on Energy Conservation in the Home featuring the use of small appliances to save energy.

Financial and legal matters are included on the program, with a seminar on Wills with Attorney Gordon Gillies, including a special feature on Durable Power of Attorney for Health Care, a two-week Investment Seminar with Jim Delamater, and a series of programs on legal topics entitled You and the Law, including real estate law, family law, probate, etc. with attorney Cheryl Bowmes. Coastal and Inland Navigation will return to the Telstar line-up with veteran sailor Joe Robiller, as will another perennial favorite, Defensive Driving, scheduled for mid-October, and Hunter Safety, with both September and October sessions.

Conversational French on an intermediate and advanced level will be offered at the Bethel Library in the afternoon. Jazz and Swing Music and a creative writing course, From Memories to Memoirs, will be held in the evening at Telstar.

Natural History courses are popular traditionally and this fall Norman Davis will teach Genus and Minerals of Oxford County at his home in Newry. A series of one-session programs, including Tree Identification with Merle Ring of the Maine Forest Service, and River of Grass—the Florida Everglades, and The Ecology of the North Woods: A Closer Look at Autumn with Chris Lewey, will be held later in the fall at Telstar.

Fitness and Exercise opportunities are included, with Exercise classes in Bethel and Andover on Tuesdays and Thursdays, Adult Volleyball at Telstar on Wednesdays, Adult Badminton on Thursdays, and Adult Coed Soccer—a new addition—on Sunday afternoons at Telstar from 1-3, starting Sept. 10. CPR and Multimedia First Aid are on the schedule at the Bethel Area Health Center, as is an Effective Coaching seminar set for late fall with Dick Taylor.

Andover courses include, in addition to Exercise, Basketry on Wednesdays, Decorative Painting with both morning and afternoon classes, and Dried and Silk Flower Arranging.

The WHDME—Energy Conservation Workshop will be offered again this fall on Oct. 10 and 17 with those attending receiving $75 worth of vouchers for energy conservation supplies.

Horse-lovers will be interested in two courses offered back-to-back—Buying and Keeping a Horse and Conditioning the Horse, with India Haynes of Waterford Stud on Tuesdays at Telstar.

Courses designed to prepare adults for the world of work include Introduction to Computers, Appleworks, Keyboarding, Office Procedures, and Accounting I and Accounting II.

For details on time and location, consult the course guide, or call 824-2780. Most classes start during the week of Sept. 18.

Visitors at Joe and Muriel Gilbert's this week have been: Bernard and Florence Plotte, Florida, Ernest Lee, Littleton, N.H., James Gilbert, Westbrook. The Gilberts were part of a large family gathering at their daughter Jean Collette's, at Sebago.

Joe Deegan has been a patient at Stephens Memorial Hospital for the last 10 days and will have to stay another few days. Leah has been down visiting every day.

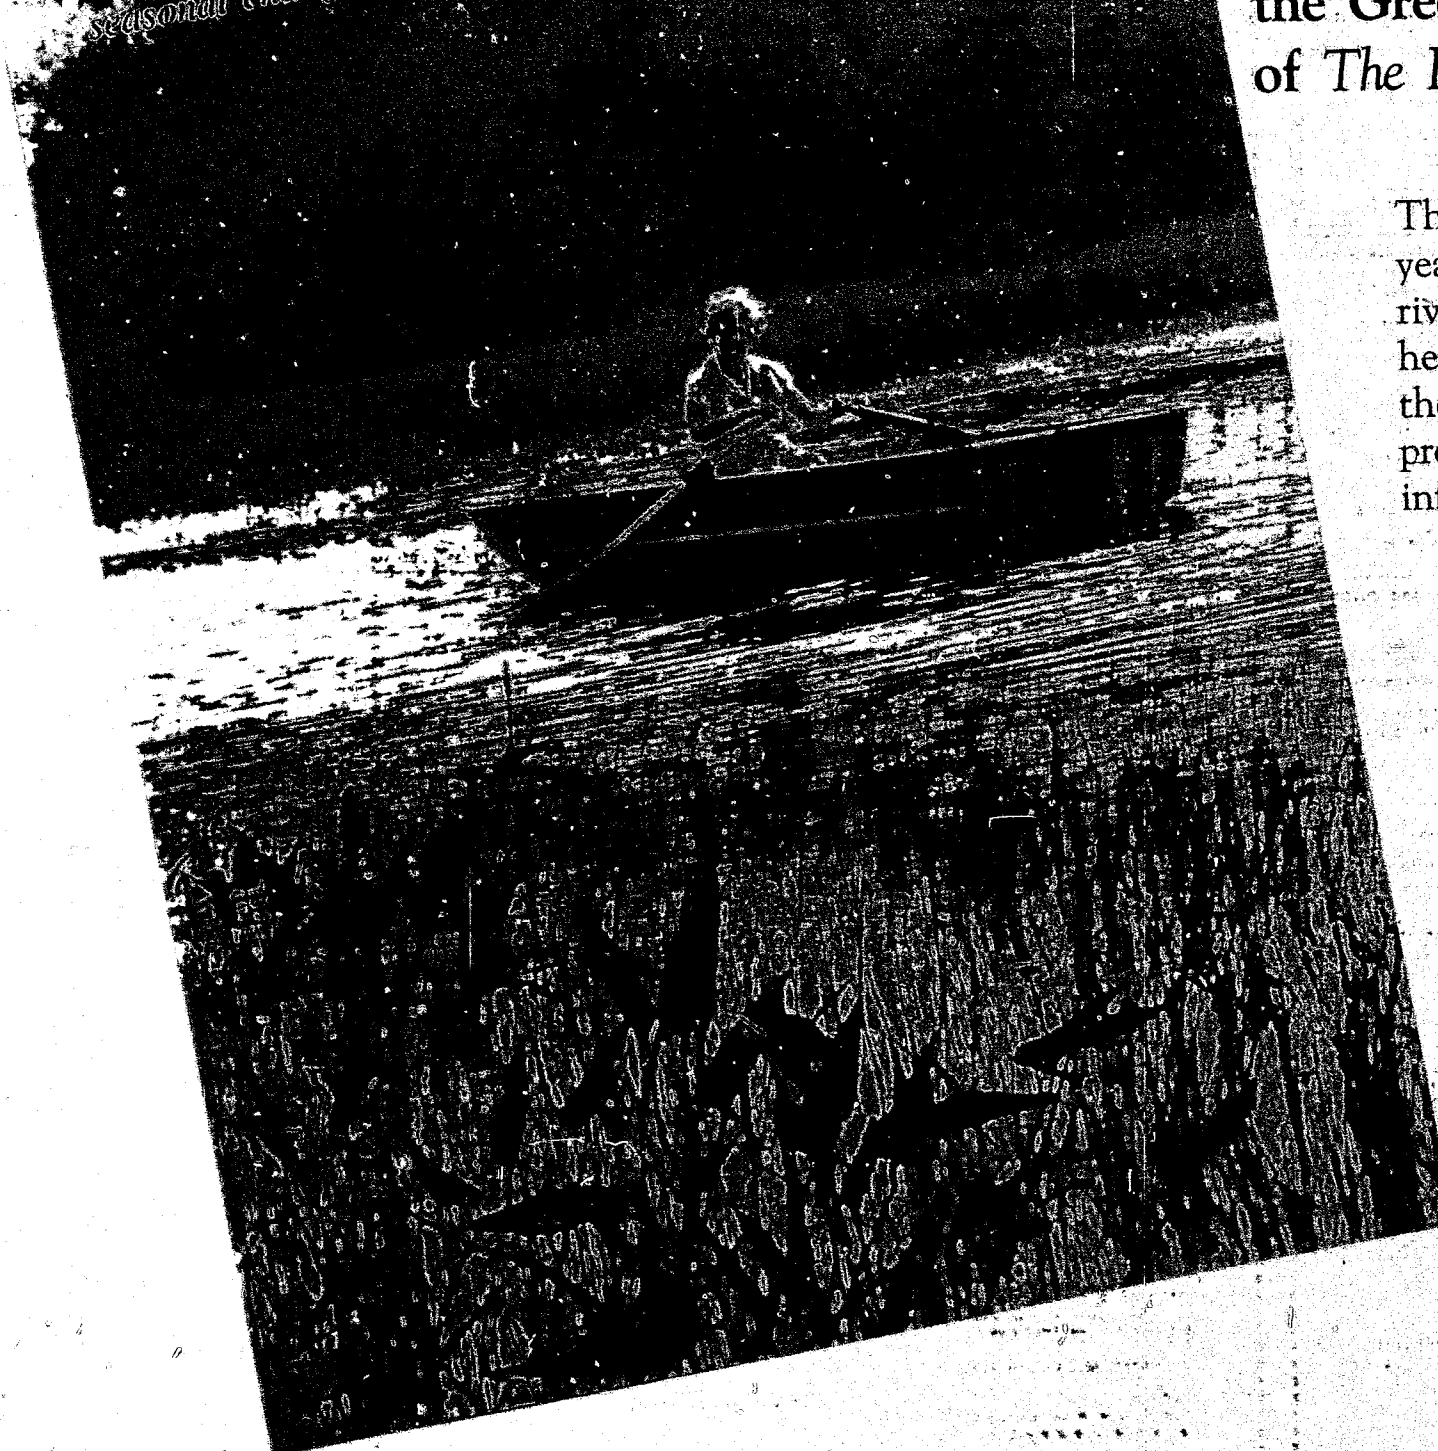

Ray, Janice and Patrick Harrington plan to have Alfred and Cora Johnson, Nancy Varney and her father Oliver Hooper, Don and Pat Johnson, all of Norway, and Pat's mother, Mrs. Morse, of Massachusetts, at their home for a cookout Labor Day.

Gene and Eunice Roy, Shelly Palmer, of Bethel, and Mr. and Mrs. Terry Wilson attended the wedding of Peggy Roy Harrington in New York City. I couldn't spell her husband's name so will have to get that for a future column.

Pond Reflections

News from

Woodstock School

Principal David Murphy says: Welcome back to another exciting year at Woodstock. You parents can help your child get off to a good start this school year. Here are some ideas to get you started:

- Get to know your child's teacher. As a parent, you know your child best. Share what you know with the teacher. Does your child have a special interest? A favorite book? Are there subjects in which your child needs special help? You don't have to wait until parent conferences.
- Talk with your child's teacher about problems, too. What goes on at home affects how a child does in school. Separation, family illness, a new baby, or even a move can all affect a child's school work. You don't have to tell the teacher all your personal business, but make sure your child's teacher knows important facts.
- Make sure your child gets enough sleep. Tired children can't do their best work. So set a bed time—and stick to it.
- Limit TV. Studies show that the kids who do best in school watch the least television. But remember—when you first turn off the set, you'll have to help your child find other things to do. Read a book or magazine. Take a walk. Visit the library, or try playing a game.

These tips can not only get your child off to a great start—they can also help make sure the entire school year is successful.

Reminder to parents to please fill out and make sure your child returns the following handouts as soon as possible to his or her classroom teacher: Student Information Sheet; Health Information Form; Fluoride Program Form; Hot Lunch and Room Parent Forms.

A child who can read has opened the door to a lifetime of learning. Parents can help their children master this important skill.

The National PTA suggests these ways parents can help:

- Talk to your children. Spoken language is the basis for reading. Talk about what you are doing around the house. Go for walks and talk about what you see. And try to answer your child's questions. (You can always say, "I don't know. Let's find out.")
- Let your child see you reading. In this case, actions do speak louder than words. Talk about why you're reading. It may be to find out information. It may be to check something you think you know. Or it may be just for fun.
- Make learning fun. Children who enjoy their reading time will want to read again and again. Choose books you both enjoy. And stop reading before your child loses interest.
- Read one-on-one. Studies of good readers show they had one person who acted like a "coach." Usually, that person is a parent. Snuggle up together in a big chair and open a book. You'll both enjoy it.

• Find a regular time for homework. You may want to make a rule, "No television until homework is finished."

• During homework time, turn off the TV and radio.

• Before your child begins, talk with him/her about his/her assignments. Help him/her plan how he/she will use his/her time.

• Set a good example. While your child is doing homework, spend some time reading or working yourself. Then when homework is done, you can both talk about how much you've accomplished.

Take the following pledge: I know that children learn best when families and schools work together. As a parent, I pledge to:

- Spend some time talking and listening to my child every day.
- Praise my child for good work in school and good behavior at home.
- Help my child develop self-confidence

Here are five tips to make homework time easier—for you and your child:

- Have a regular place for your child to do homework. Use a desk or table in a quiet room. Be sure there's plenty of light.

SMH AUXILIARY FASHION SHOW
The Stephens Memorial Hospital Auxiliary will hold a fashion show, featuring fall and winter ensembles, on Thursday evening, Sept. 28, at Goldstreet Restaurant in South Paris.

The show promises to be exciting, informative and fun, with a total of 12 area clothing stores exhibiting their best.

"Fun and Fancy" is the theme of this year's show and everything from formal wear, sports and leisure wear, to the latest in ski fashions will be displayed.

Those stores and designers exhibiting in the show are the Block Store, Norway; Callahan's Inc., Oxford; Casual Connections, Oxford; Pam Chodosh, Oxford; Hobb's Clothing Store, Oxford; Jack and Jill, Norway; Jilaine's Fashions, South Paris; Julia's Womens Apparel, Norway; Mango's, Norway; L.F. Pike and Son, Norway; The Ultimate Edge, South

Paris; and Woodmans Sporting Goods Store, Norway.

The show will start promptly at 7:30 p.m.; there will be refreshments, a cash bar, door prizes and musical entertainment available.

Tickets are $8 and are available from Auxiliary members, at the Stephens Memorial Hospital thrift shop in Norway, at the hospital coffee shop, or wherever fashion show posters are displayed. Tickets will also be available at the door on the night of the show.

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

All members and friends of the Bethel Historical Society are reminded that the Society's 24th annual meeting will be held Thursday, Sept. 7, in the meeting room, beginning at 7:30 p.m. A 6:30 p.m. potluck supper will precede the business meeting. Those attending the supper should bring a hot dish, dessert or salad.

During the business meeting the nominating committee will present a slate of officers for the ensuing year, the third annual Marjorie MacArthur Volunteer Service Award will be presented to an outstanding volunteer, and a number of new honorary members will be presented with certificates. The speaker for the evening will be Gwilym Roberts, former dean of the University of Maine, Farmington, who will speak on the subject "Local History: The Routine and the Remarkable." Anyone interested in attending the meeting is cordially invited to do so.

The 1989 Bethel Historical Society Endowment Campaign continues to register success, with $4,545 contributed to date from 215 contributors. This represents 61 percent of the $7,500 goal. Among the most recent donors are Jeanne Blizter, of Woodstock, Vt., in memory of Emma Howard Roche; James and Beatrice Brown, of Bethel; Majie and Jeanette Potaaid, of Hanover, Mass.; John and Helen Van Decker, of Casco, in memory of Mary and John Van Decker and Anna and Michael Hrabik; Benjamin and Lillian Bombhoff, of Bangor, Pa., in memory of Lilla T. Morgan and Ethel Bisbee; Will and Mary Leland, of Berkeley Heights, N.J.; Thomas and Carolyn Harrison, of South Portland, in memory of Elizabeth Emery Wright; Jean Barker, of Delray Beach, Fla., in memory of Edith Eaton Eddy and Marjorie MacArthur Noll; Frederick and Barbara Kneeland, of Cherryfield, in memory of Roland and Libbie Kneeland; Robert and Joanne Peabody Stewart, of Kalamazoo, Mich., in memory of Walter Richardson Peabody; Dennis and Rita Wilson, of Bethel; Margaret Ward, of King of Prussia, Pa., in memory of the William Farwell family; Edna York, of Bethel, in memory of Robert York; Randall Bennett, of Bethel, in memory of E.M. Quinn; Roland and Barbara Crocker, of Riverside, N.J., in memory of Wallace and Lillian Coolidge; Albert and Suzanne Chapman, of Harbert, Mich.; Mary March, of Millis, Mass.; Florence Hathaway, of Needham, Mass.; in memory of Lloyd Hathaway; Gordon Buck, of Watertown, Mass.; Agnes Haines, of Bethel, in memory of John and Edith Howe; Mildred Hanscom, of South Portland; Robert and Lucia Wilson, of Gorham, N.H.; Muriel Frazee, of New York, N.Y.; Paula Wright, of Cumberland; Celia Gorman, of Newry, in memory of Dan and Iola Forbes. Much appreciation is expressed to these donors for their generosity.

LOOKING BACKWARD

10 Years Ago: Charles Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Smith, of Bethel, a driver for Tri-State Motor Transit Company, a nationwide trucking company based in Joplin, Mo., was awarded the company's 100,000-mile safety award pin. The art exhibit at the Bethel Library featured paintings by Lucia Van Wilson, of Shelburne, N.H.

Deaths: Bessie M. Bean, Boyd H. Mercer.

20 Years Ago: Bethany Andrews, a 1969 Telstar Regional High School graduate, returned home after spending six weeks on the Island of Rhodes, in Greece, with the International Youth Academy. Mr. and Mrs. Lucius McAllister, of Bethel, observed their 50th wedding anniversary. Rev. Charles Schleich, of Lovell, was the interim pastor at the West Parish Congregational Church. David and Irma Thompson were the featured speakers at Bethel Senior Citizens showing slides and artifacts of their recent trip to Alaska.

Marriages: Clarence Bennett Jr. and Donna Vangie; Maurice Hart and Yvonne Leonard; John E. Parsons and Barbara J. Hutchinson; Richard Planter and Norma White; Paul Salway and Helen Glover.

Deaths: William Mason.

30 Years Ago: Oxford County Fair Association held their 118th event, Sept. 14-19. A 40x40 foot addition of cement block construction was built at Bennett's Garage (now the S&D #4 bus garage). Gould Academy opened with a registration of 315. Students were from all the New England states, New York, Michigan, Delaware, Tennessee, Georgia as well as Saudi Arabia, Costa Rica and Ghana. The Greenwood City School opened with 22 students in the century-old school.

Births: Lawrence C. Bennett, Michael L. Roberts, Carl A. McLean.

CPR COURSE AT STONEHAM

Stoneham Rescue Service will sponsor an American Heart Association CPR course beginning Monday, Sept. 11, from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m., at the Stoneham Rescue Barn, on the corner of Rte. 5 and Butler's Hill Road, in East Stoneham.

The complete three-night course includes instruction in child and infant techniques and two-person CPR. A shortened course of two nights may also be taken, which would include one-person adult CPR and adult obstructed airway. Subsequent classes will be held on Thursday, Sept. 14, and Monday, Sept. 18.

The courses are designed for those who have had no previous CPR instruction and also for those who wish to renew their CPR certification. Cost of the course is $5.

Pre-registration is not required but is helpful. For more information, or to pre-register, call instructor Bill Severance, at 928-2875.

Deaths: D. Heath.

Deaths: Arthur H. Brown, Frank A. Hunt Sr., Ernest F. Bisbee.

40 Years Ago: Bethel School enrollment was 468, an increase for the fourth consecutive year. Stanley Lord and family, from Waterford, moved to the Sanborn farm in Skillington. Elizabeth Mason, of Bethel, was appointed community relations manager of the Maine Publicity Bureau. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Boyker were given a surprise party on their 25th wedding anniversary.

Telstar soccer squad needs no rebuilding time

Despite losing 15 players, and all of his starters, from last year's Mountain Valley Conference Championship team, Telstar High School Soccer Coach Bob Remington expects the Rebels to be in the thick of the championship competition again this year.

"A lot of people thought this would be a rebuilding year," the coach said. "But these kids have played together for a while now. We should have a very strong squad."

Much of the credit for that strength has to go to the soccer program in place throughout the school district. "I don't see as where we should ever have a weak team," Coach Remington said.

Last year's Rebel booters went 12-4, placing 3rd in Western Maine Class B, and then went on to capture the MVC championship. (Due to a realignment of the high school classification system, the Rebels will be competing in Class C this season.)

This year's squad will be captained by seniors Teague Berry and Nathan Brown, and Coach Remington will also be able to call on the experience of juniors Scott Emery and Bruce Korhonen.

One of the newcomers on this year's varsity will be a girl, Danish exchange student Stine Lubben-Siewertsen.

UNIVERSALIST CHURCH OPENS

The West Paris Universalist Church will hold its opening service of the coming season on Sunday, Sept. 10, at 9:30 a.m.

The Rev. Don Rollins, who is a ministerial candidate for the Unitarian-Universalist denomination will conduct the service, which will include vocal and guitar music. The public is invited to attend. A coffee hour will follow the service.

The Rebels opened the season with a 3-1 loss at Leavitt Friday, and took the home field yesterday (Tuesday) against Carrabec. (Yesterday's results were not available at press time.)

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Proctor attended the National Rural Letter Carriers Convention in Buffalo, N.Y., recently.

Mr. and Mrs. William Aridas, Riverhead, L.I., N.Y., spent the past week with her parents, Vernon and Miriam Inman, Vicky Sanborn and Brant, North Conway, N.H., spent several days here and at camp, also. Charles Sanborn was able to join us on Friday. Dick and Louise Dill, of Newagen, called on us during the weekend.

Newton and Joyce Lamb and "Saimi" have returned home from Camp Susan Curtis, where Joyce was the camp nurse for the summer.

Mrs. Ruth Cote, Leominster, Mass., was a weekend visitor of Gordon and Sally Dougherty.

Ann Proctor, Ivan, Jr. and Benjamin Merrill, Waterford, were in Stratton, at the trailer, last weekend.

Forward Fellowship met at Beryl Bonney's cottage, on Round Pond, on Monday evening. The upcoming Pumpkin Sale in October was discussed. Beryl won the mystery package. The next meeting will be on Monday, Sept. 25, at Goodwill Hall with a potluck supper preceding. Martha Day and Frances Braden the supper committee. Pokeno was enjoyed after the meeting.

The Eleanor B. Forbes-Goodwill Group will meet on Tuesday, Sept. 12, at 10:30 a.m., at Lettie Brooks' farm for a dinner meeting. The hostesses will be Lettie Brooks and Myrtle Bonney. A work session will follow the dinner.

The Partisans Orchestra will be playing on Sept. 12 at the Oxford County Fair at 4 p.m. and 7 p.m. This will be Senior Citizen's Day. Then on Saturday, Sept.

Andover

By HELEN SALLWAY

The Telstar Class of '89 held their 20th reunion at Sandy Smith Wheeler's, in Newry, on Aug. 19. This is the first class to graduate from Telstar. Attending from the Andover section were John Sylvester, Robert Sylvester, Martha Knox Cronin and family, Helen Sallway and Lynda. Brandon Falkenham arrived on Aug. 19 to visit his parents. He is presently living in California.

Andover Wood Products held their yearly barbecue at the old airport road Friday, Aug. 26. A softball game and horseshoes were enjoyed. Games for the young ones included a hunt through saw dust for $10 worth of pennies, and a balloon relay race. Katie Levy was a clown running around in the middle of bedlam. Chicken was the main course with salad, sodas and ice cream with cake for dessert.

Other clowns were Stormy Cogley and Dora Morton. An auction was held, with proceeds going to a scholarship for children of parents who work at the mill or college students who work summers there. Door prizes were drawn and everyone had a good time.

The Ellis River Riders Club held a horse show on Sept. 3 and will hold a trail ride on Sept. 9, at 11 a.m., at Sharon Garrett's, in Canton. The overnight trail ride camping trip is set for Sept. 16 and 17. This is a ride for the day and campout. It starts at 3 p.m. to meet at the Green Bridge. Joyce Walsh is holding a ride on Oct. 8 at 10 a.m. This ride will go to Bunker Pond, so pack a lunch. On Sun-

30, they will be playing for a dance at the West Paris Grange Hall.

HUNTER SAFETY COURSE

The SAD #44 Adult and Community Education program will offer a course in Hunter Safety for all new hunting license applicants in September and October. Dates for the courses will be Sept. 12, 14, 19, and 21 or Oct. 10, 12, 17, and 19. Each class session will meet from 8 to 8:30 p.m.

To register, call the Adult and Community Education office, 824-2780. There is no charge for the course but pre-registration is requested.

day, Oct. 15, Wendy Henderson will host a ride from her home in West Peru at 10 a.m.

Monday night a driver hit a bear cub just beyond the Standeans. The game warden was called to dispatch the animal. There is no known damage to the vehicle.

The Andover Wood Products has been sponsoring a softball team through the league and Tuesday night they won the championship. Beating Main Street Mobil, 16-1. It was a great game all the way to the end of the ninth inning. There was one calamity as Steve Hanson and Dave Glover collided trying to catch the ball. One bump on the head and a bruised hand was the result.

School has started so be careful with the kids. The next meeting will be Sept. 11 at the fire station by the Ellis River Riders Club.

Members appointed to two ad hoc committees

At the Aug. 28 SAD #44 Board of Directors meeting, two ad hoc committees were formed to review academic issues that were presented to the school board. During the citizen comment section of the meeting, Board Chairman Merton Brown read a petition that was presented to him prior to the board meeting with 67 signatures. The petition stated: "We don't agree with the current physical education ranking policy at Telstar Middle School and Telstar High School. Since physical education is not an academic course, it should not be used to determine academic standing. Physical education should be a pass/fail course, as it now is in the district's elementary schools."

After a discussion, the board agreed to form an ad hoc committee to review the matter. Board Chairman Brown requested that the committee bring a recommendation back to the full board at possibly the regularly scheduled Oct. 9 board meeting, but no later than the Oct. 23 board meeting.

The members of the ad hoc committee to review the ranking of physical education at the Telstar include the following school board members: Alison Abisio, of Newry; John Foster, Rex Thurston and Betsy White, of Andover; Raymond Harrington, of Greenwood; Debra Poland and Denise Putnam, of Woodstock; and John Brown, Cheryl Elliot and Stanley Howe, of Bethel. Telstar physical education teachers Levi Brown, Daniel Hannon and Barbara Russell will also serve on the committee. Community members are: Leslie Cooley, of Bethel; Nancy Grover, of Mason; Richard Lewis, of West Bethel; Chris Otten, of Newry; and Sue Wright, of Bethel.

Other members will be Bruce Ball, Telstar Middle School principal; Ted Davis, Telstar High School principal; Carroll Higgins, Telstar High School assistant principal and athletic director; and David Murphy, Woodstock School principal and chairman of the district's academic standards steering committee. The Committee will be chaired by John Brown, vice-chairman of the SAD #44 Board of Directors.

The first meeting of this ad hoc committee to review the ranking of physical education at Telstar will be on Tuesday evening, Sept. 12, at 7 p.m., in the Telstar library.

A second ad hoc committee was also formed Monday evening at the school board meeting. This committee was formed at the request of Ted Davis, Telstar High School principal. During the past two years there has been considerable discussion concerning the proposed use of weighted grades for course work completed at the high school. The weighted grade system would give different point values to different subjects.

The point value would be multiplied by the student's earned numeric grade in the subject area. This weighted grade would be strictly for class rank standing; it would not have an effect upon the student's individual report card grade or their honor roll placement.

Mr. Davis said that at the close of school last June, he was presented a petition from members of the student body requesting a change to this weighted grade system. After discussing the matter with Superintendent of Schools Debra Craig, discussions at the board level were delayed until the Aug. 28 meeting due to the summer vacation schedule.

At the Monday board meeting, the ad hoc committee to review the weighted grade system was formed.

SEMINAR FOR TRUCK DRIVERS

NOVA Region 9, in cooperation with the Maine Motor Vehicle Division, is holding an informational seminar for truck and school bus drivers regarding a new federal law entitled "The Commercial Motor Vehicle Safety Act of 1988."

This law affects operators of vehicles with a gross vehicle weight rating or a registered weight of 26,001 or more pounds (13 tons), operators of vehicles designed to transport over 15 passengers (including the driver) or vehicles transporting hazardous materials in a quantity requiring placarding under Federal DOT regulation. This law requires all commercial vehicle operators to be in compliance by April 1, 1992, with the first set of requirements having to be met by July 1, 1987.

This seminar is to be held at Mountain Valley High School (formerly Rumford High School) at 6:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Sept. 6. The presenter will be Terry Bineau, the commercial drivers license coordinator for the State of Maine's Motor Vehicle Division. Mr. Bineau will explain the key requirements of the new law and will discuss how the State of Maine plans to implement the new program.

There is no fee for this informational seminar and local truckers and school bus drivers are urged to attend. For further information contact NOVA Region 9, at 364-3794.

be left at the SAD #44 Superintendent's Office or mailed to SAD #44 Superintendent's Office, R.F.D. #1, Box 1220, Bethel, 04217. Attention to either the ad hoc committee to review physical education ranking or the ad hoc committee to review weighted grades at Telstar.

Workshop will focus on SAD 44 students-at-risk

SAD #44 staff members have combined forces with members of other service agencies and district parents to plan an in-service day titled "Students at Risk Special," dedicated to the topic of students at risk. Forty-five workshops, scheduled in three concurrent sessions, will be offered to district staff members and the general public on Monday, Oct. 2, at Telstar High School.

Students come to school with some degree of risk of not completing Grade 12 in the desired fashion. Difficulties can range from slow progress in gaining basic skills to truancy, drop-outs and suicide. Parents, educators and other taxpayers across the nation, over the past decades, have been earnestly addressing the continued need for increased quality in public education that these problems highlight. The administration and staff of SAD #44 chose to explore these issues through the "Students at Risk Special" in-service day, in their continuing effort to provide "state of the art" staff development opportunities and maintain community involvement in the education process.

Four major categories were identified that contribute to every student's ability to take advantage of educational opportunities: cognitive, developmental, emotional and socio-economic. Nan Timmerlake, co-chair of the planning committee, summarized the feelings of the planners: "As people charged to educate these young people, we should become more fully aware of the symptoms of jeopardy in these areas and aware of strategies and allied opportunities to intervene and change the risk for them."

Members of the planning committee, recognizing the need to focus on the "allied opportunities" as well as on school resources for intervention, located presenters from across the state, tapping many local and state agencies, as well as the district, for the information their staffs can offer. Workshops presented by panels representing a variety of service providers and parents, as well as those presented by one or two speakers, will cover a myriad of topics, ranging from early childhood through Grade 12 and adult learners. Specific session topics will be labeled as to the age level(s) they address to help people select workshops that best suit their needs.

The keynote address will be delivered by A.L. Carlisle, the deputy commissioner of the Maine Department of Corrections. Ms. Carlisle will also present a workshop on "Working with Juvenile Justice" during Concurrent Session A. The Teens 'N Theater group, from Skowhegan, will perform between Concurrent Session A and B. They will also offer a workshop on "Drama and Humor

Andover house getting re-done into apartments

Extensive renovations to the large, white, two-story building next to the fire station in Andover has picked the curiosity of many local residents.

Long vacant, the structure was purchased by Douglas Turcotte, of Newton, Mass., who is also serving as general contractor. Mr. Turcotte's short range plans are to finish off the second floor with five bedrooms to be rented out to either workers at the Andover Wood Products mill or the general public. Mark Phillips, of Rumford, is the carpenter in this undertaking.

Mr. Turcotte plans to finish the first floor for his own use in the summer, and for weekends in the winter. He plans to have the five rooms on the second floor completed by the end of the year.

Members of the planning committee, who began work on this idea early last spring and met numerous times over the summer vacation to continue planning, contacting and confirming presenters, include co-chairs Carroll Higgins and Nan Timmerlake; Rod Abbott, Wendy Marcolini, Steve Keane, Dan Hart and Felix Otero-Otero from Telstar High School; Jan Whitworth, from the Bethel Area Health Center; Cathy Newell, from SAD #44 Adult Ed; Nancy Davis, from Crescent Park School; Terry Howard, a SAD #44 parent; and Ann Holt and Marie Hickey, from SAD #44 Special Ed.

Information about registration can be obtained by calling Dan Hart at Telstar High School, 824-2138, or Cathy Newell, in Adult Education, 824-2780.

Locke Mills

The North Pond Sailing Association held its final races for the season on Sunday, Aug. 27, at the Boiler Room Restaurant, Lake Christopher. They were forced to go with the rain date and the weather was much better. Winners for the day were Charles Johnson, Lake Christopher, 2 races; Warren Galway, Harpswell, and Sylvia Martin, Indian Pond, with a race apiece. High point winners for the season were Sylvia Martin, Indian Pond, first; Jeff Seaman, Connecticut, second; and Alice Johnson, Lake Christopher, third.

One should not anticipate, I find, I presumed, wrongly, that the Greenwood Fire Department Auxiliary met as scheduled, not being able to contact any members to learn otherwise. I could not make it that day, and apparently neither could anyone else because they had to reschedule it for the fourth Tuesday. Those present that night were Cheryl Young, Lorraine Mills, Flossie Bernier, Sally Melville, Maggie Ring, Barbara Dunham, Mary Stone, and Denise Swan. The Western Maine Fireman's Association supper for Sept. 11 was planned. John and Lorraine Mills attended a Fellowship program Sunday of the Praise Assembly of God at Dot and Roger Chopping's, at East Dixfield. Suni Roy has returned to Burlington, Vt., for her last year at Trinity College, and Ricky Roy has left for Lackland A.F.B., in Texas, for six weeks basic training before going on to technical school. Will supply you with an address as soon as one is available.

Congratulations to Bob and Brenda Bartholomew on the birth of their daughter, Eden Grace. It will be an interesting and delightful experience raising a daughter after having two sons.

We still haven't seen anything of Charlie, the cat who escaped through a screen while I was caring for him for my pastor. He'd better show up somewhere pretty soon as our pastor and family are moving to Kentucky the first week in November. He will be attending Ashbury Theological Seminary there to get his doctorate in preparation for teaching young men preparing to go on the mission field. We will miss him and his family, but his first love has always been teaching and this will fulfill a lifelong dream.

Ralph Mills was expected home for the Labor Day weekend Saturday from Colchester, Vt.

Hazel Newell's brother and sister, Roger and Amy Hanscom, have gone to live at Cozy Inn, Rumford, following Amy's release from the hospital where she was being treated for a heart attack. Wilfred and Lillian Noyes, Wilton, took her sister, Charlotte Cole, to the Country Way Restaurant for a belated birthday dinner Saturday and then visited the Market Square Health Facility where they saw Lulu Swan, VI Churchill and others.

Lorraine Mills visited Thelma Merrill at Ledgewood Thursday afternoon. There was a good turnout Thursday evening at the Town School room of the Locke Mills Union Church where they had a potluck supper and a chance to

So. Woodstock

By OLIVE R. DAVIS

The Willing Workers held their supper for their families and friends at the Meeting House at South Woodstock. It was a potluck supper and everyone brought something. It was placed on a table and everyone could pick up what they wanted and find a seat at the table to enjoy their meal. There were around 75 present.

Before and after the supper Gus Spur, a friend of Lenwood Andrews, played many pieces on his Yamaha organ, which was very entertaining. We surely appreciated his music.

After supper the Willing Worker's quilt was drawn off. Richard Wing was the lucky winner. A silent auction was held after the supper.

We were glad to see Mary and Maynard Fleming out for the supper. Also, many other neighbors and friends that we haven't seen for quite awhile. The Willing Workers will hold a meeting Sept. 6. We hope many will come and help plan the meetings for another year.

Olive Davis was in Bridgton Sunday. She called on Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Andrews. Arthur had been in the hospital for a check-up this last week. We took a ride to Thompson Lake.

The Historical Society will meet for their regular meeting at their building at Bryant Pond, Sept. 9.

The program will be on the history of rison. He will have slides to show, also. Richard Andrews will be the speaker. It sounds very interesting.

Eather Davis and daughter Patricia Tibbets attended a wedding and reception at Auburn for Carolyn Pike and Maurice Gauthier. Carolyn Pike is a cousin to Patricia Tibbets.

The schools in town will be opening this coming week and the children will be busy for a change.

Saturday, Aug. 26 was a beautiful day. We went to the Worlds Fair, North Waterford, and had a special place by the fence to watch the "pig scramble" thanks to our nephew Ellery Lawrence as Root can't get out.

Sunday, Aug. 27 went to a meeting at the Chapel of North Woodstock Community Club. Hershel Abbott was the speaker and is trying to get people interested in fixing up the Chapel, we always called it, Hershel Abbott and Herman Cole. It was 90 years young, bought and had storm windows put on. They fixed donations in order to carry out plans to fix the inside and a new chimney. They elected Hershel Abbott as president, Gerald Gammon as vice president, Martha Gammon as secretary and Norma Davis as treasurer. Send donations to Norma Davis. There was voted and accepted to authorize Gerald Gammon to buy materials and build the chimney. Clyde Knight to see to the heating system. A meeting will be held in September.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Isley had as company last week Helen Peterson, Massachusetts; Sandra Maxwell and Edna, Massachusetts; Tom Christman and family, from Massachusetts; and meet the prospective new minister, Genavieve Heywood. There will be a vote this Sunday at the church to see if the church will call her as their pastor.

NEW ASSOCIATE AT JOLY

Joly Real Estate is pleased to announce that Mary Jo Kennett is now associated with the firm. She brings with her over five years of real estate experience, specializing in condo and townhouse sales in the Bethel area.

Cub Pack 155 starts year

Lovell-Stoneham Cub Scout Pack #155 will hold its registration day Saturday, Sept. 9 at the New Suncook School, in Lovell, 9 a.m.-noon. In an effort to ease springtime conflicts this early start will give the Scouts ample time to have a full year.

Registration day is for all Scouts, new and returning, a chance to meet and talk with the Cubmaster, some of the Den Leaders and committee members and an opportunity to see what the Scouts have done in the past and some of their plans for the coming year.

Pack #155 has many wonderful returning leaders, but with a continued 20-30 percent increase in the number of Scouts of course new leaders will be needed. Volunteers may register on the same day.

The registration fee for all Scouts is $7. Boys Life subscriptions, $5.

A representative from Scout distributor L.P. Pike and Son, in Norway, will be on hand with uniforms, books and other items.

Pack #155 would like everyone to know: Any boy, Grades 1-5, is eligible to be a Cub Scout and may enter Scouts at any age; there are no prerequisites. Webelos is now a two-year program for 4th and 5th-grade boys. The other levels are Tigers, Grade 1; Wolves, Grade 2; Bears, Grade 3.

Pack #155 is anticipating another fun and busy year and hopes to continue to see growth in their numbers, programs and services for the boys and their communities.

Jane Fowler and son George. Callers have been Mr. and Mrs. Clegg Pinkham, Joe Kalinowski, Howard Anderson, and Tom Yates, from Colorado, a classmate. He told us some interesting things about sites and places. He loves it out there.

Joe Kalinowski has had company from Norway, Bill Grab, Joe Vatcher, Root and Doris Lawrence, Carroll and Mone brought up supper one night and had a good visit.

Skiway hike/walk/run scheduled for Oct. 7th

The second annual hike/walk/run to benefit the Mahosuc Arts Council will be held on Saturday, Oct. 7, up Sunday River's Three-mile Trail.

Once again, the first 100 registrants for this event will receive a long sleeved, 100 percent cotton T-shirt. All registrations will include Sunday River ticket vouchers worth $15, to use the day of the race or to save for the 1989-1990 ski season. A barbecue lunch and music entertainment will follow the race and is also included in the registration fee.

The top male and female overall finishers will receive Rossignol skis; other prizes will be given in age division categories. Registration fees for the race are $15 per person or $40 per family (limit of four registrants per family). (Limit of four registrants per family). Registration forms will be available at Print's in Bethel, or by calling 824-2008.

The Mahosuc Arts Council hopes that families will participate in this event. Competitive runners will be pleased to know that this race is also part of the "Peak to Peak" Alpine Running Series. The dates of "Peak to Peak" races are as follows:

Sugarloaf, USA, Sept. 24, 10:15 a.m., 207-2000; Mahosuc Arts Council's Hike/Walk/Run, Sunday River Resort, Oct. 7, 9:30 a.m., 824-2008; Shawnee Peak, Oct. 15, 10:30 a.m., 647-8444.

The following race sponsors are supporting the event: Sunday River Ski Resort, Gould Academy, New Balance Shoes, Boise Cascade, Crispiens, and Groan & McGurn.

RETAINED TEACHERS TO MEET

The Oxford County Retired Teachers will meet on Saturday, Sept. 16, at the Andover Congregational Church. The social hour starts at 10:30 a.m.; the business meeting at 11:15 a.m.

The program speaker will be Gordon Gillies on legal affairs for the elderly. The scholarship fund-raiser will be a book sale.

THANK YOU QUILTERS

On behalf of the Middle Intervale Meeting House Society and as chairman of the third annual quilt show, I wish to express my grateful appreciation for the 65 quilted creations for this popular event. The numbers who passed through the entrance of the beautiful meeting house were many, from the immediate area, surrounding towns and tourists from out-of-state. Thank you again to our popular quilters for we depend on you. Late Friday afternoon after my committee had received or brought in the many display items and we had arranged them on pews, clothes racks, or hung them from the back wall, we stood back and just viewed the handiwork of beautiful colors and patterns, some very old and many new pieces of work, brightening the interior of the lovely old building. You do make us proud that you share with us your quilting talents. Then we left the registration area. Then we left the building, content that the contents were being well protected by our most qualified security, Alden and Mabel Kennel, who parked their travel motor home in front of the building until Saturday morning. Thank you, dear Kennels. The success of this event is always the result of the people who serve and I was so fortunate to have such enthusiastic volunteers, including husbands on one committee. My heartfelt thanks to you all, committee. My heartfelt thanks to you all. We can all be proud of a beautiful event.

Obituaries

Helen H. Martin, 77, of Rumford Point, died Sunday, Sept. 3, 1989 at Maine Medical Center, Portland, where she had been a patient for the past 1½ weeks. She had resided at Rumford Point and had lived in the area for most of her life.

She was born at Andover, Dec. 15, 1911, the daughter of Clarence and Mary Akers Hall. She was a graduate of Andover High School with the Class of 1929 and Farmington Normal School with the Class of 1931. She was an elementary school teacher at Rumford Center and at the Bissbee School for a short time prior to her marriage.

She was a member of Rumford Point Congregational Church and the Ladies Aid of the church, a former member of the Christian Valley Literary Club, a member of the Rumford Historical Society, a member of the American Country Bridge League, and a member of the Maine Retired Teachers Association.

She was married in Andover on June 23, 1935 to John A. Martin, who survives, of Rumford Point; other survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Linda Martin Cylak of Vassalboro; a brother, Norman Hall of Panama City, Fla.; and five grandchildren. She was predeceased by a son, Gerald A. Martin, who died May 4, 1989. Funeral services will be Thursday, 11 a.m., at the Rumford Point Congregational Church, with the Rev. E. Marjorie Churchill officiating. Interment in the New Rumford Point Cemetery, Rumford Point. Those who desire may contribute to the Memorial Fund of the Rumford Point Congregational Church, Rumford Point 04278, in memory of Mrs. Helen Martin. Friends are invited to call at Meador & Son Funeral Home, 3 Franklin St., Rumford, Wednesday, 2-4 p.m. and 7-9 p.m.

Officials urge: watch out for kids & school buses

State officials are urging motorists to use extra caution as Maine's school children resume classes.

Approximately 170,000 children are transported each day to Maine schools in school buses. "The safety of these children is not only the responsibility of the bus drivers, but also of every motorist who shares the highways," said Joan Pendexter, a member of the Maine Highway Safety Commission and school bus safety advocate.

Passing a stopped school bus with its red lights flashing is a serious traffic violation and carries a minimum $250 fine and adds 10 points to the violator's driving record. "We are asking all law enforcement agencies to place special emphasis on school bus laws as the fall term begins," advised Col. Andrew Demers Jr., chief of the Maine State Police.

Motorists should also watch for children who are walking to school or to a bus stop. "The rule of thumb is to expect the unexpected when it comes to children. Young children can't safely judge the speed and distance of oncoming cars and are likely to dart out into the street. Be particularly cautious in school zones where speeds are reduced," said Col. Pendexter.

Songo Pond

By ALICE KIMBALL

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Parsons spent a recent weekend with his parents here and attended a Parsons family get-together. Others attending came from Farmington, Rumford and California.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Robinson, of Massachusetts, spent a few days recently at their cottage here. Mr. and Mrs. John Kallis with their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Leeburg, of Reading, Conn., spent last weekend at Bar Harbor. Mrs. Deanna Andrews, of Auburn, came Monday and took her mother, Mrs. Christine Kimball, out to lunch at Newry Corner and they enjoyed Screw Auger Falls. Christine, with Mr. and Mrs. Carleton Fugg, joined Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fox, of Monmouth, Mrs. Alberta Ridlon and Clarence, of Paris-Norway, at a surprise potluck breakfast at Mrs. Deanna Andrews', in Auburn, in honor of her birthday.

Several from here attended or took part in the Worlds Fair, at North Waterford, last week. Jack and Eleanor Parsons joined other Parsons' family members for supper out in Mexico Friday night.

I was in Auburn Thursday with Mrs. Joan Coolidge on business. Miss Molly Lincoln and fiancé, of Hingham, Mass., and other members of the Lincoln family, spent the long holiday weekend at the Lincoln home here. Mr. and Mrs. Dave Salway visited his brother, Barry Salway and family, in Laconia, N.H., Friday night and Saturday.

A smile is a gift you can give each day.

More diploma-less adults sought for GED classes

Adults who are interested in working towards their high school diplomas through SAD #44 Adult and Community Education will have a choice of several evening classes held at Telstar High School this fall.

Classes in English, Refresher Math, and U.S. History are on the fall program, in addition to many shorter courses, which may be taken for partial credit. Prospective high school diploma students are asked to contact the Adult and Community Education office, 824-2780, as soon as possible to schedule an appointment with Adult Guidance Counselor Merrill Bittner. Office hours for the adult guidance counselor will be Monday, Tuesday and Thursday, 2-9 p.m. New students are asked to obtain a copy of their high school transcript if they have one.

Adults who are interested in the GED test should also contact the office as soon as possible to arrange for practice testing, preparation work, if necessary, or actual testing.

The Adult Learning Center will meet

NEW STAFF AT ADULT ED

The SAD #44 Adult and Community Education office staff welcomes a new addition this fall. Lin Chapman will be serving as the Community College of Maine assistant to assist with the production needs of the interactive television system courses at Telstar.

This position is part-time and funded by a special grant from the University, in recognition of the added tasks the ITV courses mean for the local system.

Returning to the Adult and Community Education staff are secretary Alzena Sargent, receptionist Thelma Remington, and adult guidance counselor Merrill Bittner, in addition to Director Cathy Newell.

The Adult and Community Education office will be open to accept registrations during the week, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. The office will have an answering machine operating during non-office hours to take registrations and messages. The number is 824-2780.

Affordable housing to be discussed at conference

Taking steps toward affordable housing will be the topic of discussion at a conference to be held at the Bethel Inn Conference Center on Saturday, Sept. 23, at 8:30 a.m.

Sponsored by the Bethel Affordable Housing Committee in cooperation with SAD #44 Adult and Community Education, the morning program will examine the private sector's initiatives to build and the available government resources. Concerned and interested Bethel area residents are invited to attend for a comprehensive understanding and the establishment of a unified solution. Pre-registration is suggested as space will be limited. For information and registration call Cathy Newell, 824-2780.

Discussion will begin with housing and income statistics contained in a study prepared by the Affordable Housing Committee and Valerie Lamont, of the University of Southern Maine's Real Estate Institute. The report outlines conditions that have created the housing dilemma and briefly profiles the local economy.

The Housing Committee's co-chairperson Marcia Denison said, "This issue has a substantial impact on the elderly population and the ability of our youth to remain within the community. The success of an affordable housing program will assure a diversified and strengthened community." The activities of the Affordable Housing Committee are an outgrowth of the Citizens Future Conference, held Oct. 23, 1987.

For additional information contact the Bethel Town Office.

on Tuesday nights this fall, with other options available for individual tutoring. Tutors are available again this year in Andover. According to Adult and Community Education Director Cathy Newell, two students have already completed their GED tests since last June's record-setting Adult Education graduation, and she expressed hope that the class of 1990 will set a new record.

Lyme Disease: A Treatable Condition

Lyme disease is an infection that is caused by a spiral shaped bacterium called a "spirochete" which is transmitted to humans by a tick that lives on the white-tailed deer. This condition was first studied in the area of Lyme Connecticut — hence the name Lyme Disease.

Adult ticks receive blood, which is necessary for survival, from deer and other hosts. In the fall, after mating, the female tick falls from the deer to the ground and deposits her eggs. The following summer newly hatched ticks emerge. As these ticks mature they feed on humans, deer, or mice. People may come in contact with deer ticks that they hike or camp in wooded areas.

Although deer tick bites are painless, they can cause a red "bull's-eye" rash, stiff neck, and aches in the joints and muscles. Weeks later, shaking, joint pain, and thinning of the skin may occur. Months later, arthritis-type symptoms may occur.

According to a recent article in the journal, Postgraduate Medicine, tick repellents containing permethrin will kill ticks on contact. If Lyme Disease is contracted, treatment with antibiotics has been shown to be effective in eradicating the disease.
